

ABSTRACT

A composition for forming a silicon·aluminum film, containing a silicon compound and an aluminum compound. The 5 silicon·aluminum film is obtained by forming a coating film of the above composition and treating it with heat and/or light.

The silicon·aluminum film can easily be formed from the above composition by the above method at a low cost without 10 requiring an expensive vacuum apparatus or high-frequency wave generator.